Q: Replace chars in a string python I have a string in python: a='hello world!' I want to replace the chars : '!@#$$%^&()' with null. I know that str.replace method will replace the entire string but I only want to replace the chars in-between the quotes. How do I do that? Thanks A: You can use regex, for example: import re a='hello world!' print re.sub("[!@#$$%^&()]", "", a) Gives: hello Or if you want to replace all spaces between "words": import re a="hello world! hello world" print re.sub("\s+", " ", a) Gives: hello world! hello world Laparoscopic cholecystectomy versus diagnostic laparoscopy for the management of acute symptomatic cholelithiasis in women. Laparoscopic cholecystectomy is the standard of care for the management of acute symptomatic cholelithiasis. Several studies support the use of diagnostic laparoscopy, but there is paucity of data on the feasibility and safety of performing
